Features

The news is the shine! This eye-catching engineered maple collection is hand-scraped and sanded for an aged appearance. The surface is undulating, rolling, silky to the touch, and forgiving of wear and activity.

Black and white—used separately or in combination—are the distinctly upscale colors of this collection. They're very on-trend and the height of fashion in clothing and the home. Little grain is seen in this shiny collection of opaque-finished planks, which heightens the dramatic impact. Designers say that white is the bestseller of most mass-market homeware collections, because it combines with any palette. And black is perennially associated with luxury brands.

Absolutely superior performance. The last manufacturing step is an important one: Cosmopolitan Maple is treated with Shaw's own ScufResist™ PLATINUM, which provides superior scuff resistance. While all woods will scratch or dent, this superb finish resists the ordinary marks of daily wear. It makes a floor easy to live with ... and on.

And because Cosmopolitan is engineered, it offers numerous benefits:

- Can be installed on, above, or below grade in a staple, glue-down, or floating installation method
- Made in the USA in Shaw's state-of-the-art hardwood manufacturing facilities. In addition, Shaw buys from suppliers who practice managed forestry techniques.
